How to have an Epworth baby

We are here to make your Epworth Maternity journey as easy and exciting as possible. We encourage you to book with your maternity service as early as you can, to ensure that you can secure the obstetrician of your choice.

We pride ourselves on having some of the most sought-after doctors in their field, who will form a part of your care team.

You might have family or friends who've recommended an obstetrician and are now researching hospitals, or you might already know that Epworth is the right choice for you, but you haven't yet chosen a doctor.

I have an obstetrician in mind

That's great. Once you have confirmed your pregnancy with your GP, just ask for a referral to your doctor of choice. When you attend your first appointment, all you need to do is advise your obstetrician that you would like to book in at Epworth. They will organise this for you, in conjunction with our teams. Alternatively, we can send you the necessary forms you need to secure your booking.

I want to have an Epworth baby, but don't have an obstetrician yet

We can certainly help you find the right Epworth accredited specialist for you.

Find an Epworth obstetrician here

You can find a list of doctors who work with us by clicking the link on the left. Feel free to call their rooms and their friendly practice staff will be able to answer any of your questions regarding their care or fees. Once you have decided on a doctor, you will then need a referral from your GP and your obstetrician.
